EDUCATION | Birmingham, AL

ISSUE #397

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Change is a constant in education, and this university needed to design its campus visit center knowing the space would evolve incrementally to meet the changing needs of recruiters and prospective students. Bold graphics on a wall with glass clerestory welcome visitors and shield a private administration area. The university's colors are captured in glass dividers and frame imbedded monitors that share information on campus life. A faceted glass wall frames a seated area for relaxed conversations yet maintains the space's open, welcoming feel. Change will come – and this space will be ready to accommodate it.
